ELY developed a relocation plan for 150 artifacts from the Missouri History Museum's collections. Our team developed a storage space plan that included designing and creating specialized racking and storage mounts to maximize the available space. The objects ranged in size from a 1860s fire pumper and DC9 trainer to pianos and an iron lung. Many of the large objects required ELY to design and create custom rigging not only to safely move these objects, but to also allow the objects to be placed onto custom storage mounts.
